GETTING STARTED

Now that you've decided which Doughboy pool is right for your family, there are a few other things to consider before bringing your pool home.

- 1. Read your neighborhood covenants and local ordinances to find out the rules and regulations for owning a pool.
- 2. Select a site in your backyard that will allow for proper supervision of swimmers.
- 3. Position your Doughboy pump and filter near a convenient outdoor electrical outlet to run your pump.
- 4. Select a pool location that offers enough distance to avoid leaves or debris from entering the pool water.
- 5. Pick a site away from overhead power lines and allow for proper drainage.

STEP INTO YOUR NEW BACKYARD

You're well on your way to creating the perfect backyard setting for you and your family! We suggest using the grid pages enclosed to sketch out your plan. Before you get started, you'll need to have the following items handy: a straight-edge, a pencil and eraser, and a circle template. Please follow these easy steps while sketching your layout.

- 1. Transfer the dimensions and important features of your backyard to the grid paper.
- 2. Turn to the "A Size for Any Backyard" section and trace the pool you've selected onto the grid paper. Remember to position the pool in the best location suited to the features of your backyard.
- 3. Be sure to consider privacy needs, eating areas, locations for sporting activities and other recreational events, and spaces you've elected to keep open.
- 4. Don't forget to sketch the "extras" you've chosen to primp your pool, such as decking, fencing, pool pathway, pool ladders, patio furniture, etc.

FURTHER ENHANCE YOUR BACKYARD

When building a pool deck, there are a few key components to remember whether you are completely encompassing the entire circumference of the pool or building a simple platform with a partial walkway.

- 1. If using an overlap liner, you may want to leave the top rail accessible for later removal.
- 2. Be sure to provide access to your pool's pump, filter, and skimmer.
- 3. Don't forget to install a deck ladder for pool entry and exit. For fencing, a wooden or lattice style fence will enhance your poolside décor. If you are concerned about small children being around the pool, you might want to consider a second four-foot fence located on the deck itself, with a couple of gates installed at strategic points.

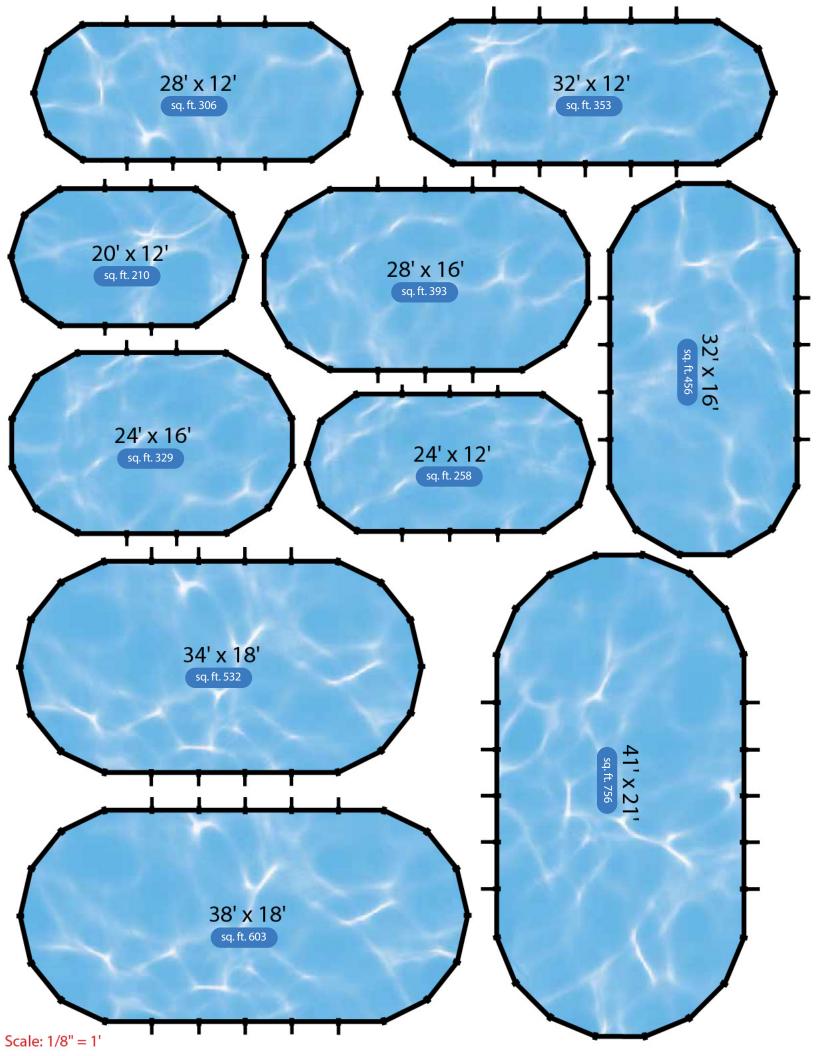

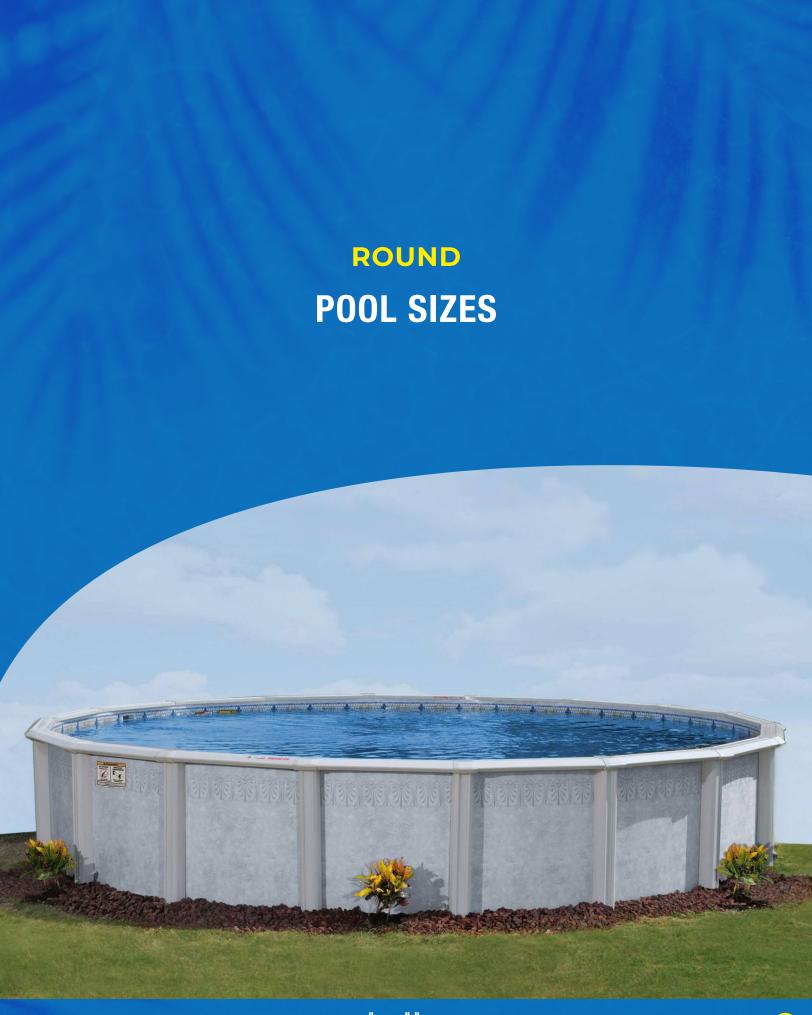

A SIZE FOR ANY BACKYARD

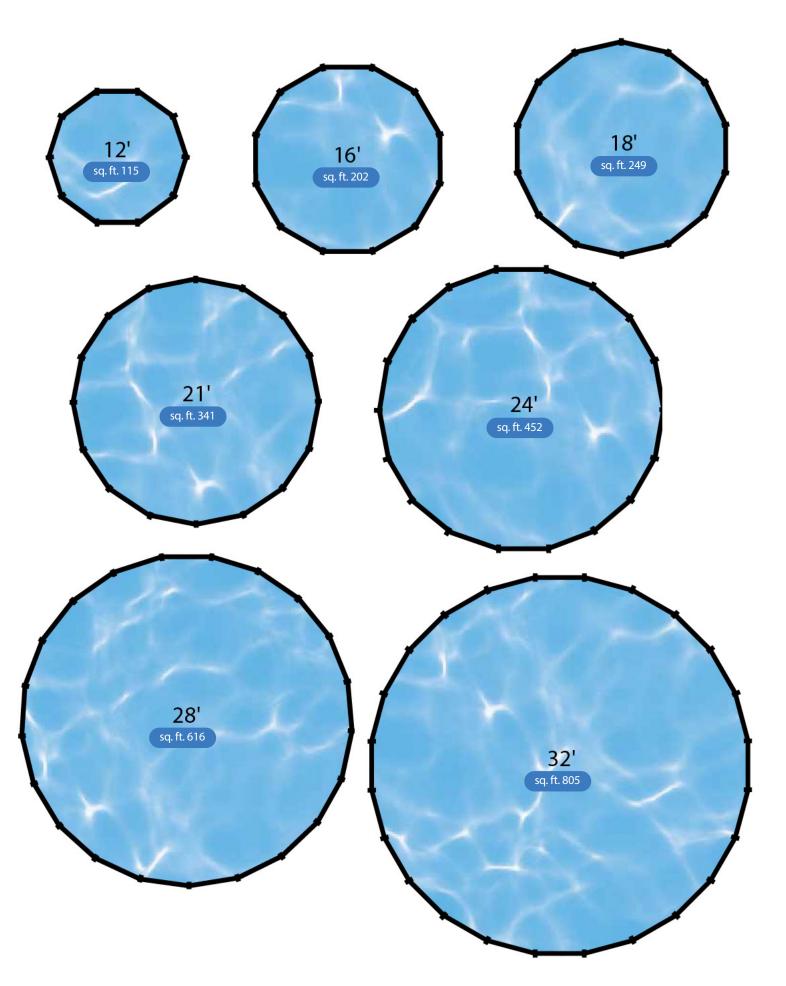

Because we offer round, oval, and rectangular configurations, customers have a tremendous range of options in shape and pool capacity. We have the perfect pool for any backyard environment. Most of our pool designs allow for exclusive expandable liners designed to expand smoothly into an optional, special-purpose deep swimming area. Plus, all of our oval pool shapes employ the space-saving Com-Pac™ II Oval Support System.
